OSIS: Bookings Steal the Show in 1Q27

We believe visibility continues to strengthen and point to expanding margins and revenue growth acceleration over the balance of the year. Robust 1Q27 bookings bring backlog to a record $2.1B on the heels of a 1.4x book-to-bill ratio in the quarter. OSIS repurchased $62M of stock in the quarter and has 773k remaining under its current authorization. We argue that collectively, this should pave the way for strength in OSIS shares from current levels. Our $274 price target is unchanged; maintaining Buy rating.

Quick take: 1Q27 revenue and adjusted EPS beat estimates on strength in Optoelectronics and healthy performance in Security despite headwinds in the Middle East. Product mix was a factor in the adjusted operating margin decline y/y; management expects margin improvement throughout the year. Bookings were robust in the quarter, with a book-to-bill of 1.4x. Backlog increased from $1.9B to $2.1B. OSIS maintained revenue guidance and raised adjusted EPS guidance, mainly reflecting the benefit from the recent share repurchase in 1Q27. We maintain our revenue forecast and raise adjusted EPS, factoring in the benefit from the repurchase of shares.

Key takeaways from the 1Q27 conference call:

- Services growth to accelerate and enable margin expansion. After 4% Services growth in 1Q27, OSIS expects double-digit growth for the year and a doubling of the growth rate in 2Q27. Drivers include warranty expiration, aviation services, CertScan software and the RF business. We argue higher Services revenue presents a durable margin expansion thesis.
- Management expects 2Q27 revenue to decline modestly y/y on a tough Middle East comparison. We lowered 2Q27 revenue by $13M to account for this difficult comparison. Our follow-up discussions confirm that guidance assumes a modest contribution from the Middle East over the balance of the year.
- OSIS reiterated its expectation for a back-half-weighted year. We model low double-digit revenue growth in 2H27 as the headwind from Mexico dissipates and shipments on large contracts continue. The $235M over-the-horizon radar award contributed to 1Q27 revenue and should continue throughout FY27. The additional $90M RF bookings should contribute modestly this year and accelerate next year.
- Optoelectronics surprises to the upside, growing 9% y/y and 16% to external customers (excluding intercompany). We have raised our Optoelectronics segment estimate for the balance of the year. Opto is benefiting from broad-based bookings across EMS, flex circuits and Optoelectronics products, supported by aerospace & defense, healthcare and industrial OEM demand and customer supply chain diversification.
- CFO healthy at $37M in 1Q27. Collections from Mexico modestly outpaced revenue in the quarter following $159M collected in 4Q26. Recall that as of 6/30/26, $190M remained to be collected from Mexico; management continues to expect a significant reduction by the end of FY27.

Valuation: OSI Systems, Inc. (OSIS)

Our $274 price target is based on a 16.7x multiple to FY27 AEBITDA of $309.1M. OSIS currently trades for 13.2x our FY27 adjusted EBITDA estimate (18.3x FY27 adjusted EPS).

Factors that could impede shares of OSIS from achieving our PT include international political conflict, integration of acquisitions, macroeconomic weakness, inability to secure large, government contracts, delay of product replacement cycles, competitive dynamics related to consolidation within the security industry, and volatile hospital spending for the company's healthcare unit.

Risks: OSI Systems, Inc. (OSIS)

- Government funding remains lumpy. Growth prospects for OSI's security business rely heavily on government funding. Government spending tends to be lumpy and programs are often delayed. Additionally, there is no guarantee OSI's technology will be adopted by the government or that programs, especially for cargo inspection, will gain the political support required to receive funding.
- Healthcare segment exposure to hospital spending. OSI's Healthcare unit is highly dependent on hospital spending, which can prove unpredictable and volatile.
- Technology development. Companies advancing new technology to the marketplace have inherently higher risks of taking on costs associated with lawsuits over IP, both as a defendant and plaintiff. Additionally, in presenting new technologies to the marketplace, OSI stands the chance of being displaced by substitute technologies or processes.
- Regulatory risk. Selling equipment and services to government agencies presents regulatory and compliance risk for OSI.
